Hiring Local Workers → need more content !!

→ This is not the background! → why did you have this discussion in class? → 话题背景

(Our class recently discussed whether companies should prioritise local people when hiring employees) Some students felt local workers understand the community better, while others argued that skills matter more than nationality. (In my opinion, companies should consider local workers first, but the most qualified person should ultimately get the job.)

→ 上课老师让我们讨论. 我们讨论. 讨论完要写作文 → 写作背景

→ 有点 chingchish → “应该考虑”...

→ ... should give local workers priority. → 这是别人觉得观点是“支持 local”的

Firstly, local employees often have a better understanding of local → companies should aim to balance these advantages by supporting local employment without compromising on merit.

A, B, and C
culture, language, and customer needs. This can help businesses ~~communicate~~ ^{communicate} ^{with whom?} → with local customers... more effectively and provide better services. For example, a local tourism ~~company~~ ^{company} may benefit from hiring people who know the area well and can recommend attractions to visitors. Therefore, local workers can contribute positively to a company's success and (should be given fair consideration.) → deserve serious consideration during the recruitment process.

However, hiring decisions should mainly be based on skills and qualifications. A highly skilled ^{international} ~~international~~ worker may bring valuable experiences and new ^{perspectives} ~~perspectives~~ that ^{improve the company} ~~improve the company~~. For instance, ^{helpful!!} → benefit the company
→ it = help the company grow
~~many~~ many technology companies hire experts from around the world to develop innovative products. As a result, businesses can become more competitive and successful. This shows that talent should remain the most important factor in recruitment.

In conclusion, local workers offer important advantages, but ^{companies} ~~companies~~ should not ignore skilled candidates from other countries. The best approach is to balance support for local employment with the need to hire the most capable person for the job.

“Hiring Local Workers”只告诉了读者这篇文章是关于什么内容的，但是读不出 Forrest 的立场

Introduction

Our class recently discussed whether companies should prioritize local people when hiring employees.

As competition in the job market becomes increasingly intense, many companies have to decide whether local workers should be given priority over international candidates.

表扬：introduction 结构是对的

但是：内容不对

真正的 background: 一个值得讨论的话题 V (topic background)

而不是：我们上课讨论了这个话题 X

In my opinion, companies should consider local workers first, but the most qualified person should ultimately get the job.

In my opinion, companies should aim to balance these advantages by supporting local employment without compromising on merit.

其实 Forrest 的观点是：Hiring the Best Candidate

但是为什么要先 consider local workers first 呢？这和 best candidate 有点矛盾

Forrest 的逻辑上不冲突，但是语言冲突

修改后的句子：支持本地就业 ≠ 降低招聘标准

公司应该尽量兼顾两方面的优势，在支持本地就业的同时，也不能因为照顾本地人而降低对能力的要求。

Body Paragraph 1

This can help business communicate more effectively and provide better services.

This can help business communicate more effectively with local customers and provide better services.

和谁沟通？

如果想避免写“谁”，直接写公司运作得更加高效

Therefore, local workers can contribute positively to a company's success and should be given fair consideration.

... deserve serious consideration during the recruitment process

fair consideration -> Chinglish! -> serious consideration

Body Paragraph 2

However, hiring decision should mainly be based on skills and ability.

However, hiring decision should mainly be based on skills and qualifications.

Ability -> 能力、才能、潜力

language ability / leadership ability / problem-solving ability / physical ability

Qualifications -> 可以证明自己胜任工作的条件 (What evidence shows this person is qualified for the job?)

educational qualifications / professional qualifications / certificates / training / related experience

A highly skilled internation worker may bring valuable experience and new perspectives that improve the company.

A highly skilled international worker may bring valuable experience and new perspectives that help the company grow / benefit the company grow.

Conclusion → Good Job!

Text C - Journal Entry

Against the Odds: Audrey Sutherland's First Alaskan Adventure

Many years ago, Audrey Sutherland, a careers adviser, made a bold decision that would change her life. (She ^{其实是辞职不干了} left behind her office routine and planned her first solo kayaking expedition while still working as a careers adviser along the coast of Alaska.) The journey later became well known because of its difficulty, length, and the determination she showed throughout the adventure.

Not everyone reacted to her plan in the same way. Her publisher was enthusiastic and supported the project, while her friends were excited and helped by receiving equipment she sent ahead. However, some people doubted her chances of success. One man laughed at her small inflatable kayak and compared it to a toy, questioning whether it could survive such a demanding trip. Even postmasters along the route were surprised that anyone would attempt such a journey. What made the expedition remarkable was that Audrey travelled alone for more than 800 miles through remote wilderness, crossed dangerous stretches of sea and explored hidden coves, tiny islands and hot springs in a kayak much smaller than those normally used for such voyages.

To prepare, Audrey carefully organised every detail. She arranged time away from work, booked cabins for some nights and bought clothing suitable for severe weather. She repaired and tested her kayak, gathered camping equipment and mailed food supplies to post offices along the route. She also copied maps, planned daily routes and informed her family of her schedule. These preparations were essential because the coastline was so isolated, supplies were scarce and safety was a major concern if anything went wrong.

新段落↓

Audrey was drawn to Alaska by its spectacular scenery, vast open spaces and opportunities for exploration. She wanted to experience nature up close, follow historic routes and challenge herself physically and mentally. The rewards were significant. The trip strengthened her independence and endurance, allowed her to enjoy wild life such as whales and otters, and helped her escape the confines of office life. Most importantly, it gave her a renewed sense of purpose and inspired many more Alaskan journeys in the years that followed.

Paragraph 1

She left behind her office routine and planned her first solo kayaking expedition along the coast of Alaska.	She planned her first solo kayaking expedition while still working as a careers adviser.

Story Bank

Experience	Moment	What Changed?	What does it reveal about me?
A classmate experienced hypoglycemia	Before anyone else reacted, I gave him the candy I had.	I realized helping someone was my instinct rather than a decision.	Proactive, calm, compassionate
Traveling in Thailand	I saw a little girl helping in her mother's restaurant.	Thailand's education isn't good.	Caring

*Forrest 再补充一点

*以上内容都需要 scene (场景) 才能体现出来小事的特殊性

Structure

Part 1 - Hook

Scene → 一个场景引入

Part 2 - Conflict

Problem → 发生什么问题?

Part 3 - Reflection

Thinking → 为什么会发生？我学到了什么？我原来哪里想错了？

Part 4 - Growth

我学会了 xxx (不要这样写!)

Change → 成长要落到行为!

Example (from 丸子 Tina)

Paragraph 1 - Scene - Bring your readers into your world!

This is a five-people family cooped up in a room of no more than 15 square foot. There is no living room. The two bunk beds in the corners of the room are heavily donned with clothes, towels and plastic bags. Paper boxes are stacked all the way up to the ceiling. The laundry room, toilet, kitchen and balcony are all in one place where only one person can narrowly squeeze in. This is the kind of place that more than 200,000 people call home. This is Hong Kong, where I come from. (→ 已经开始引入 下文 problem 和 reflection 了)

Purpose of Paragraph 1

- To create a vivid and shocking image of Hong Kong's inadequate housing conditions.
- To introduce the social issue that motivates the writer.
- To establish the writer's personal connection to Hong Kong.

Paragraph 2 - Problem + Reflection

I saw this when I worked as a community volunteer distributing food to the lower-income families in Hong Kong last year. I was lost in words when I tried to describe what I saw to others. It is hard to imagine that behind Hong Kong's glittery façade exists a squalid underbelly to which many people choose to turn a blind eye. That was the moment when I decided to pursue a relevant major at university that can equip me well to help these 200,000 people find a proper home. To achieve this, Land Economy is definitely my first choice.

Purpose of Paragraph 2

- To explain how the writer personally encountered the housing problem.
- To show the emotional and intellectual impact of the volunteering experience.
- To connect the experience with the writer's academic motivation.
- To explain why the writer wants to study Land Economy.

Forrest's Turn:

What's in your mind?

Homework 1 - Personal Statement Part 1

- 补充第三个故事到 P9 的 Story Bank
- 从 P9 的 Story Bank 里面挑一件难忘的事情，写成 part 1: Scene

Homework 2 - Article (复习迁移)

- 字数 300
- 尽量用到作文分类整理中 society 的 points

Exercise 6

- 14 In class, you have been discussing whether young people today should be encouraged to spend more time outside their homes instead of staying indoors.

Here are some comments from your classmates:

Outdoor activities can sometimes be expensive or unsafe.

Young people need places where they can relax after studying.

Staying at home is more convenient because everything is online now.

Spending time outside helps young people make more friends.

Write an article for your school magazine, giving your views.

The comments above may give you some ideas, and you can also use some ideas of your own.

Your article should be between 100 and 150 words long.

You will receive up to 6 marks for the content of your article, and up to 6 marks for the language used.
