

04/03/26

Free Talk

Believe a religion NOT Trust

believe /brɪ'li:v/ ★★★★★ | CET4 TEM4

believing, believed, believes

1. V-T If you believe that something is true, you think it is true, but you are not sure. 认为
 - Experts believe that the coming drought will be extensive.
专家们认为即将到来的干旱将会是大面积的。
 - We believe them to be hidden here in this apartment.
我们认为他们藏匿在这所公寓里。
2. V-T If you believe someone or if you believe what they say or write, you accept that they are telling the truth. 相信
 - He did not sound as if he believed her.
听起来他似乎不相信她的话。
 - Never believe anything a married man says about his wife.
永远别相信一个已婚男人说的关于自己妻子的话。

trust /trʌst/ ★★★★★☆ | CET4 TEM4

trusting, trusted, trusts

1. V-T If you trust someone, you believe that they are honest and sincere and will not deliberately do anything to harm you. 信任
 - "I trust you completely," he said.
“我完全信任你。”他说。
2. N-UNCOUNT Your trust in someone is your belief that they are honest and sincere and will not deliberately do anything to harm you. 信任
 - He destroyed me and my trust in men.
他毁了我，也毁了我对男人的信任。
 - You've betrayed their trust.
你辜负了他们的信任。

Believe → 你觉得“这是真的”

Trust → 你敢“把自己交给它”

Homework Analysis

Article

Secondly, cities offer more advanced infrastructure and essential services. In many cities, people can choose different ^{transport options} ways of public transportation) such as buses, subways, and even shared bikes or scooters to ^{reach their destinations} get around the city / travel to work or school ^{直接翻译 "步行15分钟的距离"?} (complete their trips) For instance, instead of walking 15-minute ^{> walking for around 15 minutes / walking all the way to the station} around distances, commuters can ride a shared bike from their home to the nearest subway station, then take ^{the} subway to school or ^{the} office. ^{其实还是死搬硬套! 而且和上文"transportation"以及下文"Hospital"无关, 起不到作用. to school or work} In addition, services such as online shopping and food delivery save time and effort in daily routines. ^{可以啊} Hospitals in cities have advanced facilities and ^{highly skilled doctors / experienced doctors / well-trained doctors} high-skilled doctors, which ^{allow patients to receive timely and effective treatment.} ensure people's healthcare. Therefore, (transportation, delivery service and hospitals) in cities strongly make ^{such urban facilities and services / these services / all these advantages} daily life ~~is~~ far more efficient, convenient and secure.

Body Paragraph 2

In many cities, people can choose different ways of public transportation, such as buses, subways, and even shared bikes or scooters to complete their trips.

In many cities, people can choose different public transport options, such as buses, subways, and even shared bikes or scooters to reach their destinations/get around the city/travel to work or school.

① different ways of public transportation → 语法正确但是不地道

建议改成:

*to get around the city

*to travel to work or school

*to reach their destinations

②complete their trips → 语境不太对, 而且有种直译的感觉 (“完成旅程/行程” ?)

建议改成:

reach their destinations/get around the city/travel to work or school

For instance, instead of walking 15-minute around distances, commuters can ride a shared bike from their home to the nearest subway station, then take a subway to school or office.

For instance, instead of walking for around 15 minutes/walking all the way to the station, commuters can ride a shared bike from ~~their~~ home to the nearest subway station, then take the subway to school or to the office/to school or work.

先表扬!

和第一版比有进步~ (看得出: 一个具体的人在城市里怎么出行)

commuters → 人物

ride a shared bike → 动作

from ~~their~~ home to the nearest subway station → 路线

to school or (+the) office → 目的地

↓但是↓

① walking 15-minute around distances → 像是“步行十五分钟左右的距离”的直接翻译

建议改成:

walking for around 15 minutes/walking all the way to the station

② from their home to the nearest subway station X

英语里习惯说: from home V

③ take a subway → take the subway/take the metro

④ to school or office → to school or to the office/to school or work

In addition, services such as online shopping and food delivery save time and effort in daily routines.

删掉

这句话的前面：讲交通

后面：医疗

但是这句话好像很突然：

虽然和前后都是一起呼应论点的“advanced infrastructure and essential services”，但是 Forrest 没有展开说，这样和前后的内容就不平衡了。

其实“交通”和“医疗”在这个段落里面已经足够证明城市有更多好的“基础设施”和“服务”了

Hospitals in cities have advanced facilities and high-skilled doctors, which ensure people's healthcare.

Hospitals in cities have advanced facilities and highly skilled doctors / well-trained doctors / experienced doctors, which allow patients to receive treatment quickly.

① high-skilled doctors → 词汇搭配不对

建议改成：

highly skilled doctors/well-trained doctors/experienced doctors

② 语义不匹配

前面是 doctors / hospitals

后面却接 healthcare（一个很宏观的概念→偏政策性质，比如：医疗系统改革等等）

建议改成：

“doctor” → treatment/diagnosis/medical care

Therefore, transportation, delivery

Therefore, these services/all these

service and hospitals in cities strongly make daily life far more efficient, convenient and secure.		advantages in cities strongly make daily life far more efficient, convenient and secure.
--	--	--

① 结尾的总结不需要把前面讲的东西再列一遍啦!

可以浓缩成:

these services/all these advantages

② strongly make → 是一个错误的表达

Text C - Speech

Ladies and Gentlemen,

Today I want to share my experience as the first person to travel back in time on such a mission. You may wonder what it feels like to ^{leave} (step out of) your own century and ^{enter} ^{a completely different} into another ^{century/time} world. My journey took me from the year 3030 to 2030, with one clear objective: to collect

或更详细: tree seed packets and 25 kg of soil for analysis tree seeds and soil so that forests could be restored in the future. However, I was ^{given} ^{⇒ 被动语态 = be + done 过去分词} only thirty minutes to complete this task.

At the beginning, I felt overwhelmed. The air ^{, dizzy and deeply unsettled.} (smelled unfamiliar and ^{⇒ had a strong and unfamiliar smell} strong), and the environment was completely different from what I was used to. ^{内容有点空: This experience was physically unpleasant and emotionally shocking} (It was uncomfortable and even shocking). Despite this, I ^{After the shock,} stopped focused because I knew how important the mission was. As time passed,

I followed my training closely and carried out each step as quickly and carefully as I could. ⇒ 语言可以有更多 detail

I worked carefully but quickly, following my training. By the end, although ^{still} I was exhausted and ^{⇒ 可以体现仍一直处于压力之下} under pressure, I felt a deep sense of relief and ^{? pride?} ^{price} for completing the task successfully.

Several things worked well during the mission. My training helped me remain calm and ~~ignore~~ ignore distractions, even when people stared at me. I was able to carry out my instructions exactly as planned. However, there were also many challenges. The physical effects of time travel, such as dizziness and nausea, were difficult to endure. The limited time made every second stressful, and the unfamiliar surroundings, including strange behavior and conditions, ^{made the task even harder} added to the difficulty. Hiding my equipment was also risky and inconvenient.

For future missions, I believe improvements are necessary. The process of time travel should be made more comfortable to reduce physical strain. Missions should allow more time so that ^{travellers can work more safely and with less pressure} tasks can be completed more safely.

If possible, sending more than one person would increase efficiency. Better preparation, such as improved disguises and more advanced equipment, would also help reduce risks.

ladies and Gentlemen

Ladies and Gentlemen

来抓 Forrest 的细节了!

大写! 大写! 大写!

You may wonder what it feels like to step out of your own century and into another world.

You may wonder what it feels like to leave your own century and enter a completely different time.

可以理解 Forrest 写 “another world” → 因为时间的不同，展现出来的是两个完全不一样的世界。

不过根据文章的主题，最好突出“穿越” → enter a completely different time/century.

... to collect tree seeds and soil so that forests could be restored in the future.

... to collect tree seed packets and 25 kg of soil for analysis.

修改之后可以体现文章的细节 → 拿什么? 目的是什么?

However, I was give only thirty minutes
to complete this task.

However, I was given only thirty minutes
to complete this task.

被动语态结构: be + done (动词的过去分词)

At the beginning, I felt overwhelmed.

At first, I felt overwhelmed, dizzy and deeply unsettled.

文章描写得很细致，speech 也可以更具体一些

The air smelled unfamiliar and

The air had a strong and unfamiliar strong, ...

smell, ...

smelled unfamiliar and strong ... 搭配不地道

建议改成:

The air had a strong and unfamiliar smell, ...

It was uncomfortable and even shocking.

The experience was physically unpleasant and emotionally shocking.

内容太空! 文章描写得很细致的

As time passed, I worked carefully but quickly, following my training.

After the initial shock/As time passed, I followed my training closely and carried out each step as quickly and carefully as I could.

这句话的语言可以有更多细节 (包括演讲的其他地方)

太干的话别人不愿意听了

By the end, although I was exhausted and under pressure, I felt a deep sense of relief and price for completing the task successfully.

By the end, although I was exhausted and still under pressure, I felt a deep sense of relief and pride for completing the task successfully.

① still 可以体现演讲者一直处于压力和紧张状态

② price → pride (拼写错误)

New Writing Task (Text C) - In-class Practising

Text C: The beach

The narrator and her sons, Charlie and Khai, are on one of their regular afternoon visits to their local beach.

On this dazzling afternoon, cycling along the sea's edge is exhilarating and our laughter sends seagulls scattering skywards. The new path we're following ends abruptly and we're stranded on the wrong side of a channel of water. I show the boys that, like life, if you approach it full on, you can most times power through on sheer determination. But today the channel's deeper than it looks. I've misjudged it massively. My bike comes to a graceless halt midway, balances briefly, then falls flat on its side, depositing me spectacularly in fifty centimetres of water.

We drag my bike out, giggling, and weave between the fragile dunes, emerging to find the tide low and the beach reinvented after yesterday's storm. There's been a great upheaval and something large is lying on the sand. I don't know yet that it is, or was, a ship – wrecked in 1895 on a treacherous sandbank in a gale. Its crew was rescued, but its cargo was lost.

From this distance it looks unreal, like some elaborate prop on a sweeping stage of sand. The children race towards its magic. Getting closer, I experience the same thrill. I know that these sands shift, playing an endless game of hide-and-seek. Even so, it's hard to believe this has been here, buried and invisible: a wooden vessel, rotting and exposed, its curved wooden spurs like the ribcage of some enormous extinct beast, picked clean of its flesh by the sea. The boys clamber on board like marauding cartoon pirates. This wreck is an astonishing sight.

When I say that this place is changeable, what I mean is that tides, currents and weather conspire to move the sand, and objects like this skeletal old ship emerge. At other times they can't be seen. We walk unaware over the remains of the past everyday: what's left of our ancestors' artefacts – the 'physical culture', as archaeologists call it. It's dizzying, that realisation.

I often find scrap metal and glass here – mostly rubbish, carelessly discarded, but one time the unusual colour of an object intrigued us. We tried pulling it out, carefully digging sand away with our hands, but it was stuck fast, part of some bigger, bulkier thing, and wouldn't budge. Charlie stopped digging and stood back to reassess. 'It's a car,' he said tracing the familiar curve of a door. The sea that day seemed so gentle, the tide ambling quietly up the beach, that it was difficult to imagine it powerful enough to pick up an entire abandoned car. But when the westerly winds howl in, this place has a different character. Countless times I've witnessed the shore hewn and hammered, scattered with whole trees and littered with concrete fence posts.

Until recently, cars were permitted on every part of this special shore. When restrictions were introduced, limiting the area accessible by vehicle and charging entry during summer months, there was indignation from disgruntled visitors. I suppose there will inevitably be some people who don't understand why conservation matters.

Treasure hunting along the shoreline is always exciting; today is spectacular. It's still not unusual to find the small egg cases of skate fish on this beach. Known locally as 'mermaids' purses', the ones I find are mostly desiccated, blackened and hardened by their time out of water. Sometimes, though, you can find one freshly cast, and quite different: soft in texture, olive brown and translucent. The chances are it's empty, its occupant already swum free. But it's just possible, especially after impressive storms, to find one unhatched. Charlie has spotted one and is pleasantly puzzled. I pick it up carefully, holding it to the light for observation. Today we're very lucky, gestation is complete – inside there's a tiny baby skate, a fragile promise for the future, almost ready to hatch.

Reread Text C, The beach, in the insert and then answer Question 3 on this question paper.

Question 3

You are Charlie. Years later you work for an organisation which protects natural environments. As part of your work, you give a speech to persuade young people to protect your local area.

In your speech you:

- describe how you spent your afternoons on the beach as a young boy and what you enjoyed best about those activities looking back
- explain what you learned from your mother about the beach, its history and its people
- suggest how and why you were inspired to protect natural environments and what you think young people can do to help this beach.

Write the words of the speech.

Base your speech on what you have read in Text C, but be careful to use your own words. Address each of the three bullets.

Write about 250 to 350 words.

Up to 15 marks are available for the content of your answer and up to 10 marks for the quality of your writing.

Questions for Forrest:

Who are “you”? → Charlie

Who are you writing/speaking to? → Young people (especially from your local area)

用第几人称? → 第一人称 (I / my / we)

! TRY TO USE YOUR OWN WORDS !

Speech:

开头 (address audience)

① “Ladies and gentlemen,” / “Hello everyone”/ “Today I want to share...”

② 互动感 → “You may wonder...”

*You may wonder what it was like growing up by the sea

*You may wonder why this beach means so much to me

结尾

① 呼吁 (call to action)

*We must protect places like this

*Let us take responsibility...

*It is our duty to...

4 Paragraphs (structure)

Paragraph 1: 开头 (介绍, 类似 background)

Address audience

*Ladies and gentlemen, / Hello everyone,

Who am I now

*I now work for an organization that protects natural environments

引入 childhood experience

Paragraph 2: 童年经历 + 喜欢的活动 (完整回答第一个 bullet point)

Describe your afternoons on the beach

*Where did you go and who were you with? (mother / brother)

*What activities did you do?

- cycled along the shore
- explored the beach
- went “treasure hunting”

*What did you discover there? (unusual objects - ship, car, skate...)

What you enjoyed most

*原文线索:

- “cycling along the sea’s edge is exhilarating”
- “our laughter sends seagulls flapping skyward”
- “The children race towards its magic”
- “I experience the same thrill”
- “treasure hunting is always exciting”

Paragraph 3: 从妈妈那里学到的东西 (完整回答第二个 bullet point)

What your mother taught you

*原文依据:

- “I show the boys that, like life, if you give it everything, most of the time you can power through on sheer determination.” → to keep going/to be determined/to face challenges bravely

- “When I say that this place is changeable...” → nature is unpredictable

History, People... (People in the past and now)

*“a ship – wrecked in 1895...”

*“It’s a car...”

*“We walk unaware over the remains of the past everyday”

*“ancestors’ artefacts – the ‘physical culture’”

*“cars were permitted...”

*“people who don’t understand why conservation matters”

Paragraph 4: 启发 + 环保呼吁 (完整回答第三个 bullet point)

How you were inspired

原文依据:

- “powerful enough to pick up an entire abandoned car” → nature is powerful

- “this place is changeable” → valuable

- “remains of the past”/“ancestors’ artefacts” → history

- “a fragile promise for the future” (baby skate) → future life

What young people can do

*cars were permitted → restrictions introduced

*other actions

Homework 1 - LETTER

完成 P10 ~ 14 的 Speech

Homework 2 - ARTICLE

Exercise 6

14 In class, you discussed whether change is a positive thing.

Here are some comments from your classmates:

Change brings new opportunities.

Too much change can be stressful.

Stability makes people feel safe.

Change helps people grow.

Write an article for your school magazine, giving your views.

The comments above may give you some ideas, and you can also use some ideas of your own.

Your article should be between 100 and 150 words long.

You will receive up to 6 marks for the content of your article, and up to 6 marks for the language used.